Dear friends of Mother Earth

It is with great pleasure that I am presenting to you our first newsletter, and it is my hope that you will like it. I wish I had been able to distribute it earlier, for I consider it a significant instrument for the future to let as many people as possible know who we are, what we do, why we do it, and how we do it!

Despite its importance it needed to wait while we were endeavouring through our lectures, workshops, and seminars to increase people's understanding of the Natural Laws; while we were writing to members of governments and imploring them to help stop whaling in Japan; and while we were raising people's awareness of natural agriculture. It also needed to wait while we were disseminating information on the dangers of wireless communication in numerous campaigns all over Europe....and while we were out there planting trees. But today is the day to write, for there is so much to share and to say.

The World Foundation for Natural Science has a mighty task to accomplish: We want nothing less than to heal this world and to restore Divine Order on this precious planet. Therefore, let yourself be touched by what you are going to read and help us to reach this lofty aim. God needs a body to do good ... He needs you!

Making a Cooperative Effort to Restore Divine Order

As you may have heard or read on our homepage already: The Mission of The World Foundation for Natural Science is to heal this world through responsibility and commitment in accord with Natural and Divine Law, thus re-establishing Divine Order on this precious Planet Earth. This is what our letter head says and this is what is engraved in our hearts. It is a mighty task we have devoted ourselves to and it cannot be accomplished in the course of a few years. It is much rather the task of an era - the New Aquarian Age of Faith, the dawn of which we are currently experiencing. This means, what started with the foundation of The World Foundation for Natural Science in 1993 will continue for the next 2000 years; and it can be accomplished.

Responsibility and commitment in accord with Natural and Divine Law are indeed of paramount importance in a cooperative effort to re-establish Divine Order. What does this mean?

We naturally take on responsibility, e.g. for our children, for someone or something we are responsible for, we feel responsible for, or we have been entrusted with. Do you feel responsible for this precious Planet Earth? We do need to realise that we have been entrusted with Planet Earth. It is our home. It offers 10 billion people the opportunity to take on physical embodiment, to realise that we are perfect Divine Beings, and to act accordingly ... and thus to be like Gods. Planet Earth is a schoolroom for Gods and Goddesses in embryo! If we do not take on responsibility for this Planet with its four elements, that provide for us everything we need for life, and sustain it in its natural beauty and perfection, we are depriving ourselves of the very base for life and of our purpose for being.

Once we have realised who we are and what the purpose for our being is we will want to make a conscious commitment to re-establish this natural state of Divine Order. True commitment is assumed in the heart and goes together with the afore-mentioned responsibility that we feel within us. A true commitment to such a lofty task as the healing of this Planet necessitates the abandonment of all selfishness and fear. In other words, we need to disengage ourselves from our human personality, our small ego - this part of our personality that we falsely like to identify ourselves with, that we have grown to love, that we are coddling and pampering and that is striving for money, power, recognition, and influence ... and therefore falls so easily victim to the temptations of our society rather than considering the welfare of man and nature.

To assume our responsibility and to make such a commitment in accord with Natural and Divine Law we must know the Laws of Nature and act according to them. These are the basic principles of life the Great Sages of all ages have revered and which are the foundation of true religion. We will not be able to solve the problems we have created as long as we are not aware of the basic principle of cause and effect. We reap what we sow ... if not in this life, in a later one. Reincarnation is a Natural Law and it is about time this simple fact was again recognized and considered. The fact that the doctrine of reincarnation was taken out of the bible during the Second Council of Constantinople in 553 AD has not really helped to bring forth a Christianity based on the teachings of Jesus, the Christ - on love, gratitude and appreciation for all life, and on corresponding works; for faith without works is dead. Had all this remained part of the Christian doctrine and had this faith been lived by millions and millions of people who call themselves Christians, the world would be different today. As soon as man realises that everything he causes through his thoughts, feelings, words, and deeds will one day come back to him and that he determines his next life by what he does in this one, he will naturally want to assume more responsibility and will be intent on sowing good seeds. In other words: He will harbour the desire to truly serve life.

What we are seeing today in many scientific disciplines as well as in the economy and in politics serves mainly the shortsighted pursuit of profit of individual companies or persons, but not the welfare of man and nature. Nobody can serve both, God and mammon.

A change for the better is urgently needed. Every change starts with a change in consciousness, it starts with realising who we are, why we are here, and what the basic laws of life are. Raising people's awareness to this realisation is the main task of The World Foundation for Natural Science. We are a Franciscan scientific organisation and part of The New World Church of The Christ. Our department and project leaders have undergone many years of intensive studies of spiritual science before committing themselves, for their love of man and nature, to their individual important task. They are all modern day Franciscans and members of The Brotherhood of Humanity, which has been given the Divine Mandate to build The New World Church of The Christ for this new Aquarian Age of Faith. It is a church of the heart, a church in which everyone is welcome, no matter their race, religion or colour. And this church - a spiritual church, which is desperately needed in this world - can only be brought forth when Divine Order is being re-established on this Planet Earth and when all social areas are once again firmly based on true ethics and moral values; in other words, on Natural Law. For this we ask you for your valuable support!

Distribute this Newsletter, visit our homepage at www.naturalscience.org, attend our seminars, participate in our activities and get to know The World Foundation for Natural Science and The New World Church of The Christ. The Dangers of Mobile Phone Networks

Ever since its inception in 1993, The World Foundation for Natural Science has been warning against unnatural microwave technology, which is used in mobile phones, in microwave ovens, wireless phones and baby phones based on the DECT standard, in weapons technology, for weather manipulation, and in ever more systems. In our opinion, it has become the greatest danger to all life ever created by man. For every living system was created on the basis of natural electromagnetic impulses and works thanks to such electromagnetic processes. Unnatural technological radiation interferes with and disturbs these delicate processes that occur in nature and in our bodies. Disease and decay are the inevitable consequences.

It is merely a question of time until these degenerative consequences will become visible. Dr. Vini Khurana, a cancer specialist, is afraid that mobile phone systems may be far more harmful than asbestos or smoking.

Dr. Sherrill Sellman, who has recently published a comprehensive report about 'EMR, Hormone Disruption And Cancer' in the Nexus Magazine, puts it this way: "a growing body of scientific research acknowledges that presently the greatest threat to our health and wellbeing (and to all life forms) is an insidious, all-pervasive, and invisible form of pollution called Electropollution." We assume that there will be a world-wide 'revolution' within the next few years (indeed, it has already started), since people are beginning to realise what dangers they have been exposed to for years, merely for the sake of profit...and since the negative effects on health in the lives of millions of people will become drastically visible; a fact that more and more acclaimed scientists are warning against.

A study by Dr. Vini Khurana, an excellent cancer specialist, was published at the end of March 2008. After evaluating more than one hundred studies of the effects of mobile phones, Dr. Khurana said, "It is to be anticipated that this danger has far broader public health ramifications than asbestos and smoking!"

This statement is based in part on the fact that in the meantime three billion people are using mobile tele-phones all around the world ...which is three times more than the number of smokers. And smoking kills about five million people every year all around the world. However, it is also based on the fact that using mobile phones for more than ten years increases the risk of developing a brain tumour massively. Cancer needs at least ten years to develop. Dr. Khurana fears that malignant brain

The dangers of mobile phone systems are still being played down, while mankind and nature are subject to a field test, the consequences of which will be devastating if we do not do something about it.

tumour incidences and their associated death rates will increase in the next decade and it will be far too late for medical intervention. This is why he urges governments and the mobile phone industry to take immediate steps to reduce the exposure to mobile phone-related electromagnetic radiation and appeals forcefully to consumers to avoid mobile phones whenever possible.

After publication of a scientific report of the 'BioInitiative Working Group' in September 2007, the European Environment Agency warned also forcefully against the dangers of EMR. This radiation could trigger a crisis, similar to those that have been triggered by the dangers of asbestos, nicotine, and leaded petrol. The 'BioInitiative Working Group' is composed of acclaimed scientists and health and policy experts. They examined more than two thousand scientific studies and literature surveys, and concluded that the current safety thresholds are unsuitable for the protection of public health.

One of the most prominent scientists who have been warning against the dangers of mobile phone systems for years is probably Dr. George Carlo. From 1993-1999, he was the chairman of "Wireless Technology Research, LLC", when he received $28.5 million from his client, the American Cellular Telecommunications Industry Association, in order to give evidence of the safety of mobile phone radiation. But the findings were alarming, and Dr. Carlos demanded that the consumers are made aware of the unmistakable health risks (such as gene defects and an increased risk of developing a brain or eye tumour or acoustic neurinoma). Instead of acting according to his scientific recommendations, Dr. Carlo was flatly removed from his position, driven to financial ruin, discredited and defamed. His wife divorced him. His house burned down to its foundations, and the arsoists have never been found. Obviously, the findings of his study were doing too much damage to their business, for the mobile phone industry has an annual turnover of more than $100 billion in the United States alone.

Similarly, the warnings of Prof. Adlkofer, the director of the European REFLEX study (2000 to 2004), are simply being ignored today, though he was able to prove DNA double-strand breaks in cell cultures caused by microwaves. In October 2007, Professor Adlkofer first presented his research findings on the effects of 3G (UMTS) radiation on human cells. "DNA strand breaks are already occurring at a level of 2.5 per cent of the threshold level. Therefore, UMTS signals have an effectiveness that surpasses that of GSM signals almost by a factor of ten!" Thus, Professor Adlkofer could prove again that mobile phone radiation damages the genetic material and therefore increases the risk of cancer.

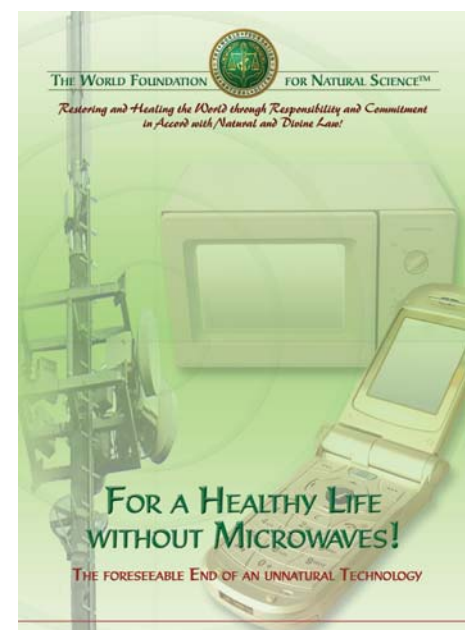

Together with this research, he also presented the first results of the Interphone study, alluding that the risk for brain tumours might be increased after a usage of ten years or more. At the same time he pointed out the findings of a scientific group from Israel (2007) that first showed the biological cell mechanism of mobile phone radiation damaging cells far beneath the threshold values.

Given all theses findings, Professor Adlkofer called for an immediate re-thinking, warning that the increased technological use of electromagnetic fields might draw a huge health problem on our society. Professor Adlkofer called the mobile phone radiation and its justification an "uncontrolled and unplanned field test" on man.

In view of all of these warning voices, it is not only incomprehensible, but simply criminal for the mobile phone industry to still claim that there was no scientific evidence for the detrimental nature of mobile phone radiation. The right to life and integrity are natural rights of man. This sets them above all other laws. Those natural rights are being massively violated by today's application of microwave technology. The World Foundation for Natural Science thus demands the immediate development of alternative technologies that work in accord with the natural laws, and therefore endanger neither man nor nature.

Our attention is largely focussed on making people all over the world aware of the dangers of technological microwaves and on encouraging them to speak up for a healthy life without microwaves, using our extensive information material, and the information on our website, www.naturalscience.org, as well as our newsletter. Please do draw your family's and friends' attention to these dangers. If we can assist you in your efforts, please do not hesitate to get in touch with us by e-mail ([Microwave@naturalscience.org](mailto: Microwave@naturalscience.org)) or by telephone: +41 (0)41 798 03 98. We will be glad to help you.

Arbour Day 2008

This year, the members of The World Foundation for Natural Science once again contributed to the restoration of our Beloved Mother Earth's forests. Putting our whole heart into it, and with great joy, we planted 150 oak trees on 29th March 2008 in Aesch (LU), Switzerland.

Young and old are very active in planting trees.

to the official Arbour Day on 25th April 2008. Afterwards, the Organic Hotel 'Eichberg' in Seengen treated us to a delicious meal.

We would like to encourage all of our readers to plant trees as well, e.g. on the occasion of Arbour Day which is annually celebrated at the end of April, when thousands of trees are being planted all over the world.

It is such a simple and joyous way of doing something for the restoration and healing of our planet, for not only are trees absorbing CO₂, thus producing precious oxygen that we need for breathing, but they are also sustaining the water circulation, and thus contribute to the Earth's temperature regulation. In view of the naturally and unnaturally caused climatic changes on our planet, trees are the most important element in restoring and maintaining this sensitive balance. This is why we put together our "Plant Trees" presentation, which shows the importance of planting trees. It can be ordered from our European Headquarters, at a price of 2 Euros or 3 Swiss Francs each.

Earlier, a strong storm had destroyed the mixed forest along the stream's ravine. This location was very well suited to the English oaks we planted, for they thrive well in such humid places. Because the period of vegetation starts earlier and the plants "get going" sooner in the Swiss midlands, we carried out this activity on 29th March 2008 - prior
