Ladies and Gentlemen, esteemed Friends,

Lucerne, October 1st, 2016

It is my great pleasure to invite you to our 21st Scientific World Congress. We live in a time when, sometimes overnight, theses that were formulated a few years ago are turned upside down and completely new approaches are suddenly applied. We have arrived at an urgently needed turning point, to turn our attention once again more to Nature and its Laws. Thanks to modern technology we gain sudden insights into processes and the workings of microorganisms like viruses, bacteria, microbes and parasites, that live as cohabitants in our bodies and are all around us as well. As everything is connected we have a much bigger influence on our environment through our thoughts and emotions than you are probably aware of.

In each one of us there lies an enormous potential with which we can permanently change the world; but it takes a strong will to do so. Every path begins with a first step. We simply have to start somewhere and we will then very quickly see how easy it is to bring things back into alignment, always according to Natural and Divine Law. This is the reason why The World Foundation for Natural Science was brought into being 23 years ago: To show the Way of Nature to scientists, teachers, doctors, naturopaths, nurses etcetera and bring to mind that we are all connected with each other. Therefore, everything you do affects me and everything I do affects you. No one is an island. And as it applies that "As it is in the great, so it is in the small," this concerns the world of the microbes just as much, however small they might be.

We can only leave to our children and children's children a world in which they can live when we join forces and act in concert. No one can do it alone even though every one must start with him- or herself. This requires the will to change something in one's life. Therefore, we encourage you to come to this year's congress which will give you a new scientific outlook, the tools to make decisions and, together with like-minded people, to make the much needed difference.

In the last one or two centuries mankind has been downright led astray in many fields and still the webs of lies continue. Yet more and more of this falsehood is now being revealed. Every day people lose their lives because they are made to believe that they need to take drugs to get healthy. Not one single drug is safe and all have dangerous side effects of one sort or another. We avoid those who advocate and prescribe such unnatural substances in the name of "health", and which are the direct cause of mankind's suffering and continuing ill-health! Nature can provide all of the herbs and natural remedies we require to become healthy again.

Last year's congress impressively showed us that an organic, sustainable agriculture is the backbone for a healthy mankind. If you couldn't be there last year you still have the opportunity to watch these lectures on our website at www.naturalscience.org. This year we will take things a step further and turn our attention to the gut-brain-axis. We will show you why the condition of the gut is connected to syndrome such as depression, autism, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) and schizophrenia and how they can be successfully treated with organic, local food, steering away from the plethora of diets and exotic wonder remedies towards simple, individual solutions! Further, we will learn how each one of us can become a genius by applying amazingly simple methods with which he or she learns to successfully use the ingenuity of the brain, which is the interface between spirit and matter.

As you can see in our multifaceted program we have distributed the topics that belong together onto the individual days in order to give you the opportunity to register for single days should it not be possible for you to participate in the entire congress. Of course, we recommend that you attend the entire congress, because the topics of the lectures are closely related and build on each other's findings. On Friday you will be presented with ground-breaking findings that demonstrate the correlations between psychological blockages, our nutrition and the digestive system, while on Saturday we will offer you a three-part workshop on the practical application of new learning strategies and new ways of thinking through visionary exercises. Especially for teachers, students and pupils, this is a unique opportunity to acquire—through practical tutorials—the skills to bring forth the ingenuity that is within each of us and thus accomplish bigger and better things. So, through continuous practice of these simple methods, everyone can bring forth his or her potential, just like Einstein and Mozart did.

For the eleventh time already we are hosting this major, international event at the beautiful Maritim Hotel located beside the Donau river in Ulm, Germany. Like last year the hotel will again be completely smoke-free for the entire duration of the congress, as we are firmly convinced that smoking, which harms every aspect of life, no longer has a place on this planet. Last year's participants very much appreciated being able to stay in a healthier environment during the congress.

Register this very day with the enclosed registration card. You can also apply online today at www.naturalscience.org/congress-2016/registration/ for this year's World Congress of The World Foundation for Natural Science and book a seat for yourself and your friends and acquaintances as soon as possible or simply call us on +41(41)798-0398. We will be happy to register you. We are expecting more than 500 guests from all over the world.

You will find that while registering you can also book a room at the Maritim Hotel Ulm either at the same time or at a later date, which is holding a contingent of rooms in reserve for us. And should you be travelling with children who need supervision during the congress, please let us know as soon as possible, too. We will be happy to organise the necessary childcare together with you. Your dog is also very welcome at our congress provided it is house-trained and well-behaved (without a fee).

It takes the "genius" of each one to shape our future together. Never say you have nothing to contribute. You are needed, because everybody is unique and has his or her individual talents. How very quickly do we shift responsibility on to politicians, public authorities and doctors. It is up to us to put our newly gained insights into practice.

I am looking forward to seeing you in Ulm! If you have any questions, call us; we are happy to help you anytime.

With heartfelt greetings

The World Foundation for Natural Science
