Clear Correlation between 5G and Covid!

Until now, environmental factors have been ignored as a possible trigger or reinforcer of Covid-19 disease. Politics, research and public health have focused exclusively on the SARS-CoV-2 pathogen and consequently on vaccination as the supposed only way out of the crisis.

This is despite the fact that radiation from wireless communication technologies is known to be an omnipresent stress factor that has been linked to increased risk of cancer, DNA damage or even learning and memory disorders, among other things. In April 2021, a study by Canada's Trent University also showed that in US cities with 5G coverage, significantly more people contracted Covid-19 and died than in cities where the population was not exposed to this radiation.<sup>1)</sup>

A study<sup>2)</sup> published in September 2021 examined this statistically significant correlation in more detail. For this purpose, the medical doctors Beverly Rubik and Robert P. Brown evaluated more than 250 research articles dealing with the effects of wireless communication radiation (WCR) in very low doses and over a long period of time on cells, animals and humans. Their analysis revealed a clear overlap between the effects of wireless communication technologies on the human body and the symptomatology of Covid-19 disease. In other words, the electromagnetic radiation from wireless technologies, including and especially 5G, can cause the same symptoms as Covid-19!

These symptoms include, for example:

- Blood changes such as the money roll formation (clumping of blood cells, impairing oxygen uptake and blood circulation) and a reduction in haemoglobin
- Immune system disruption, including suppression of the immune response and autoimmunity

- Severe inflammation (hyperinflammation)
- Increase in cellular oxidative stress (including a reduction in Glutathione levels) and increased generation of free radicals (leading to blood vessel injury and organ damage)
- Increase in intracellular Calcium levels (facilitates virus penetration and multiplication)
- Aggravation of cardiac rhythm disorders and heart disease

The authors conclude, based on these findings, that the long-term exposure of our bodies to wireless radiation technologies may have increased the spread and severity of Covid-19 and is a significant factor in the number of cases and deaths from Covid-19. Although the correlation found does not yet constitute proof of causality, Rubik and Brown strongly recommend that people reduce the intensity of artificial electromagnetic radiation they are exposed to (such as from mobile phones, Wi-Fi, BlueTooth, GPS, DECT phones or baby monitors) as much as possible. This is especially true for people suffering from Corona infection or Covid-19 disease.

It is also worth adding that the expansion of wireless technologies, especially 5G and Wi-Fi, in hospitals and the increased use of wireless devices in intensive care units should also be stopped immediately and these places kept free of wireless technologies so that an undisturbed healing process can take place.

The World Foundation for Natural Science has been warning about the dangers of microwave and mobile phone radiation for almost three decades. In our FactSheet “The contribution of the fifth mobile phone generation 5G to the Corona pandemic”, we reported in May 2020 specifically on the correlation between the expansion of the fifth mobile phone generation (5G) and the Corona pandemic. We referred to the many studies that show how the immune system is weakened by artificial electromagnetic fields (such as those caused by mobile telephony including 5G or Wi-Fi) and even the multiplication of Corona viruses in cells is promoted.

Our short film series "How artificial electromagnetic radiation harms life" impressively shows how 5G and 5G satellites affect animals, plants, humans, water and also the Earth's atmosphere.
